The Republican Sweep of The House of Congress

November 2010: The Republican party in the United States has swept the seats in the Congressional office of the House of Representatives. There has been much tumult as congressional leaders have supported the president of the United States in a major move to turn the United States into a socialist nation. Congress passed into law, for example, a sweeping national healthcare law, which would require every man and woman to have healthcare, while bailing out banks, auto manufacturers, and home loan agencies with taxpayer dollars. The borders of the U.S. are slowly dissolving at the behest of the president. The people in the U.S. are upset with the prospects of a country gone under.

The Republicans, as said aforehand, have taken control of the congressional house. The Democrats, of which the president is one, have failed their primary duty to uphold the Constitution of the U.S. The president could not have accomplished what he has without the Democrat portion of Congress. The president's angry looks, verbal disdain for Christianity; etc., is unparalleled. There is a dark side to all of this we have seen.

There is a last-gasp opportunity to stave the move to place the U.S. into the arms of a one-world government. The opportunity is the Republican party; but the Word tells us clearly not to place our trust in man; however, the Republican party shall fail, which will send the populace into a spasm as the promises made are not achieved because of opposition; therefore, faith in the system will dissolve. The current president was vaulted into this time by unseen hands for the purpose of eroding the resolve and faith of the peoples of the U.S. The president is a change-agent and is not of this country. The purpose of this person is to destroy. This president shall fail; however, there is one coming after him who will much more fierce than this man. The coming president shall have fire in his mouth and iron in his fist.
