What is The Bucket?

In a conversation string with one of my friends, the topic of wisdom was addressed, in the spiritual sense. I wrote the following:

“Wisdom is like a building full of goods (knowledge). Understanding is knowing how to get the goods out for use; so, wisdom is the principle thing and knowledge, but with all our getting, get understanding. Last thought, ignorance can get us killed.

“Thank God for wisdom, knowledge, and understanding. I have a scriptural scenario for all to consider followed by a question: The Word says counsel in the heart of a man/woman is like deep water, but a man of understanding will draw it out. Apparently, some bucket is needed to draw out the counsel so a person may be satisfied.

Question: What is the bucket?
